

Subject line: TIKKTAKK.NET_ Onlinesoftware sparks worldwide interest

Press Release published by MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH on 1 July 2009

„From East to West“

New internet application is already being used internationally in its first month.

The response from internet users of the first web-based company software for small businesses and freelancers is great. Within the first month, more than 1000 users have registered, users that can now carry out their everyday business activities over the online-platform.

„ We were most surprised by the worldwide interest particularly from India, America and Eastern Europe“, reported Christian Farr, the CEO of MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH. „The feedback as well as various suggestions we received are very positive for us especially concerning the different features within the application which are to some extent still in development - such as Project Management, the integration of client databases and mobile access over smartphones.“

After the successful launch on the 1st of June 2009, the company is working intensively on the further development of the application. By the end of 2009, they will round-out the programme with more functionality that will enable small companies and freelancers to use it as their all-inclusive „head office“ for all of business processes – from client acquisition through to final invoicing of projects.

TIKKTAKK.NET was developed especially for the self-employed and small businesses with up to 50 employees. For the first time, small enterprises with very low budgets can now afford access to all of their business data anytime and from any location. For this reason, the online-application now fulfills the same purpose as would traditional locally-installed software solutions which thus far has been unaffordable for small enterprises.

Additional Information:

MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH

MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH distributes innovative online software developed by its Swiss parent company - MOASE Solutions AG.

MOASE integrates international IT know-how with the objective of designing innovative and powerful Internet applications for the business sector. TIKKTAKK is a product now offered by the group of companies that comprises integrated operating software for time and project management as well as a myriad of supplementary tools for communication and documentation needs. At this time, the company is working on the development of additional services, which will be published in the second half of the year.

MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH is headquartered in Stuttgart. From here, it services all customers in Germany, Austria and other EU member states.

Internet Access for Journalists

You can register for and test the functionality of TIKKTAKK.NET free of charge with the following link:

<http://www.tikktakk.net/site/registrieren.html>

For questions or further information, we would be happy to hear from you.

Beth Schappert

MOASE Solutions Deutschland GmbH

Hefferichstraße 7

70178 Stuttgart

Telefon +49 711 65 55 01 22

presse@moasesolutions.de

www.tikktakk.net